

CLAIM AMENDMENTS

1. (Currently Amended) Process for coordinating several types of psychological therapy and the therapy providers participating in the treatment of a patient. Characterized by the following process steps:
that the patient's data pertaining to cognition relating to the illness to be treated are stored in a central computer and transmitted to ~~the~~ at least three different therapy providers over a data network connected to the computer, that the patient's data pertaining to motoricity relating to the illness to be treated are stored in ~~a the central~~ computer and transmitted to ~~the~~ at least three different therapy providers over a data network connected to the central computer.
2. (Original) Process according to claim 1, characterized in that the therapy types used by the therapy providers relating to cognition, emotion and motoricity are input into a computer, stores, and transmitted to the other therapy providers over a data network connected to the computer.
3. (Original) Process according to claim 1 or 2, characterized in that the data pertaining to the patient's physical constitution relating to the illness to be treated are determined, stored in the computer and transmitted to the therapy providers over a data network connected to the computer.
4. (Original) Process according to claim 3, characterized in that the therapy types used by the therapy providers relating to the patient's physical constitution, and the medications used are input into a computer and transmitted to the other therapy providers over a data network connected to the computer.
5. (Original) Process according to claim 1, characterized in that the patient's data relating to cognition, emotion, motoricity, therapy types, physical condition and medications are governed, controlled and evaluated by a central computer.
6. (Currently Amended) Device for the coordination of several types of psychological therapy and at least three therapy providers participating in a treatment of a patient, characterized in that to all therapy providers computers are provided, and that the computers are interconnected with one another over a data network.
7. (Original) Device according to claim 6, characterized in that a central computer is provided for the governing, control and evaluation of the data relating to the patient.